Sisters retire from printing firm

A woman from Bridgnorth has retired after 35 years service for a printing company, working in Bridgnorth and Telford.

Prestige Print of Halesfield is itself celebrating 25 years in business this year and recently held an open day at which the Mayor of Telford & Wrekin, Councillor Malcolm Smith, was given a guided tour of the business where he took time to chat to Susan Brooms in the Xebec Labels department.

Also taking retirement was Susan's sister Margaret Williams, of Halesowen, who has completed 24 years service.

The ladies explained to the mayor the various aspects of printing, cutting and laminating self-adhesive labels, which forms a small section of Prestige Print.

Councillor Smith said: "I am very impressed with what we have seen today, the company is very forward looking, has a wide range of customers and has invested heavily in new equipment.

"Prestige Print must feel very proud of long serving staff such as Susan and Margaret and I wish them and the company every success for the future."

Prestige Print director Hitesh Dhulashia added: "Susan and Margaret have been excellent employees, our thanks go to them both for the contribution they have made over the years."
